"Lessons from Jesus' baptism"
Matthew 3:11-17

11 "I baptize you with water for repentance. But after me comes one who is more powerful than I, whose sandals I am not worthy to carry. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire. 12 His winnowing fork is in his hand, and he will clear his threshing floor, gathering his wheat into the barn and burning up the chaff with unquenchable fire." 13 Then Jesus came from Galilee to the Jordan to be baptized by John. 14 But John tried to deter him, saying, "I need to be baptized by you, and do you come to me?" 15 Jesus replied, "Let it be so now; it is proper for us to do this to fulfill all righteousness." Then John consented. 16 As soon as Jesus was baptized, he went up out of the water. At that moment heaven was opened, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting on him. 17 And a voice from heaven said, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased."

The Holy Spirit as a Dove
By: Kurt Selles
Scripture: Matthew 3:11-17

At that moment heaven was opened, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting on him. — Matthew 3:16

Have you ever wondered why the Holy Spirit first appears in the New Testament as a dove? Wouldn't it have been more impressive for the Spirit to come like an eagle or a hawk, suggesting power and might? The answer can be found in Isaiah 42, where God intro-duces and commends his "servant" and then promises to place his Spirit on him, sending him out to bring justice to the nations. How? Not through power and might, but through the servant's purity, gentleness, and humility: "A bruised reed he will not break, and a smoldering wick he will not snuff out" (Isaiah 42:3).

This prophecy is fulfilled, in part, at Jesus' baptism when the Holy Spirit descends as a dove, demonstrating that Jesus loves the weak, cares for the suffering, and, above all, offers peace and reconciliation with God. We hear this later in Jesus' own words: "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. . . . For I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls" (Matthew 11:28-29). God the Father confirms this mission with his tender words about his beloved Son, with whom he is well pleased.

Through the presence of the Holy Spirit in our lives, we know that peace and reconciliation with God the Father comes from knowing Jesus. Walk in that peace today and always.

Prayer

Holy Spirit, descend as a dove on us today. May your presence bring peace in our lives so that we can share the peace of Jesus with the world. Amen.
